Success in business depends on the ability to make the correct decisions at the correct time. One way to consistently increase your team's chances of navigating uncertain markets and economies is to gain experience supported by a rigorous business education. The Koppelman School of Business will work with you to help you develop and hone the skills needed to add true value to businesses that are serving diverse and growing markets. Our dedicated professors of management, economics, finance, and accounting will use their teaching, research, and practical expertise to make your investment in an M.S. in business administration a very rewarding education experience.

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION
You may be a specialist in finance, accounting, marketing, management, engineering, computer science, or economics, but your specialty may be a career constraint. The M.S. in Business Administration—General Business will give you the opportunity to leverage your expertise by giving you a well-rounded, deeply analytical education in all important dimensions of business management. You may be an entrepreneur who cannot afford to specialize but must be able to analyze business problems that come at you from multiple areas simultaneously. The general business option gives you a flexible curriculum but will also ensure that you develop the skills needed to manage teams who are charged with analyzing and solving complex business problems across firms within various industries.

Students may pursue this option in either an online learning format or a traditional classroom format.
