The Star-Spangled Banner (The National Anthem)

O say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars through the perilous fight
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
O say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Fanfare and Alma Mater

On campus green, with towers of marble
Lifting white spires in air.
Oh, Brooklyn is our Alma Mater,
And she is wondrous fair.
Within the gray halls ever lit,
The lamps of learning burn,
And ever on to goals of glory
Young eager spirits yearn.

Message From the President

Congratulations to the Class of 2026!

On behalf of the entire Brooklyn College community, it is an honor to welcome you to our 2026 Commencement.

Each year, Commencement arrives alongside the energy of spring, a season of renewal, growth, and new beginnings. It is a fitting backdrop for this moment, as you step forward from your time at Brooklyn College into the next chapter of your lives.

Today, we celebrate not only what you have accomplished, but who you have become. Your years here have been shaped by curiosity, persistence, and a willingness to engage deeply with the world around you. You have navigated challenges, embraced opportunity, and built a community that reflects the very best of this institution.

The friendships you have formed, the ideas you have explored, and the knowledge you have gained will continue to grow long after today, just as spring gives way to seasons of continued change and possibility.

As you join a global network of more than 165,000 Brooklyn College alumni, you carry with you the values and spirit that define this college: a commitment to learning, to equity, and to making a meaningful difference.

While Commencement marks the close of one chapter, it is also the beginning of many more. Wherever your path leads, we are confident that you will move forward with purpose and resilience.

Congratulations, Class of 2026. We are proud of all you have achieved and excited for all that lies ahead.

With warmest regards,

Message From the President of the Brooklyn College Alumni Association

Dear Graduates,

Today, you will cross the stage carrying more than a degree. You will carry the hopes of those who came before you, the sacrifices that made this moment possible, and the responsibility to leave something meaningful behind for those who will follow.

We are living in a moment that calls for truth, integrity, and courage. In moments like these, we are called to create change. Shirley Chisholm, a proud Brooklyn College alumna, reminds us, “You don’t make progress by standing on the sidelines. You make progress by implementing ideas.” Brooklyn College has prepared you for exactly that—to think critically and creatively, and to use what you know to make positive change in the world.

There is something special about a Brooklyn College graduate. It is not just what you have learned, but how you have learned, grounded in the spirit of community, persistence, ambition, and discovery. That spirit lives in you and will guide how you lead, how you serve, and how you build a legacy that will endure.

As you take your next steps, know that you do not walk alone. Today, you join a community that will stand with you, support you, and celebrate you.

On behalf of the Brooklyn College Alumni Association, congratulations, and remember that no matter where life takes you, it is Brooklyn.

Always,

Message From the Executive Director, Alumni and Career Engagement

Dear Graduate,

On behalf of the Brooklyn College alumni community, congratulations on your graduation!

Today, you officially join a vibrant global network of 165,000 alumni who share a deep connection to Brooklyn College and embody our motto, “Nil sine magno labore”—nothing without great effort. Take a moment to reflect on all you accomplished to get here and on the friends, family, professors, mentors, and advisers who supported you along the way. You should be incredibly proud of what you have achieved!

As a new member of the alumni community, you can stay connected in many ways. You will receive discounts on performances and professional sports games; may use the Brooklyn College Library; can participate in a variety of free career, arts, and sports events; and keep access to the Handshake job board, to name just a few benefits. Follow us on social media, bookmark brooklyn.edu/alumni, and check your email for the latest news, events, and exclusive alumni offers.

During your time at Brooklyn College, you may have benefited from the generosity of the alumni. Financially, alumni support academic scholarships, study abroad opportunities, and internship stipends. They mentor students, provide career guidance, and often come back to hire from the college. As you advance in your career, remember to pay it forward by helping the next generation of students. This includes mentoring, hiring students or fellow alumni, coming back as a speaker, or making a donation of any amount.

We are excited to welcome you to the Brooklyn College alumni family and look forward to celebrating your future successes!

Presidential Medal of Honor

Cecilia D. Wang is the National Legal Director of the American Civil Liberties Union. She oversees over 200 staff in the national ACLU's Legal Department and leads the ACLU's work in the Supreme Court of the United States.

Wang has been an ACLU lawyer for more than two decades. From 2016 to 2024, she served as deputy legal director at the national ACLU and directed the Center for Democracy, which encompasses the ACLU's work on immigrants' rights; voting rights; national security; human rights; and speech, privacy, and technology. Prior to that, she directed the ACLU Immigrants' Rights Project and was an adjunct lecturer at the Berkeley and Stanford law schools.

In April 2026, Wang argued Trump v. Barbara in the Supreme Court of the United States, challenging an executive order that would strip U.S.-born children of undocumented immigrants and temporary visa holders of their birthright citizenship under the Fourteenth Amendment. Under her leadership during President Trump's first term, the ACLU successfully challenged his Muslim ban, border wall, and family separation policies, and his effort to add a citizenship question to the 2020 census.

Wang was named to Forbes' "50 Over 50" list in 2025 and has received numerous other accolades, including from the University of Pennsylvania and Vanderbilt law schools, Sierra Club, National Lawyers Guild, California Rural Legal Assistance, Asian Pacific American Law Students Association of Yale Law School, and Asian American Bar Association of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Wang began her career at the ACLU as a fellow in 1997–98 and then worked as an attorney with the federal public defender's office for the Southern District of New York and at the San Francisco law firm of Kecker & Van Nest, LLP. While in private practice, she was appointed to the federal Criminal Justice Act indigent defense panel for the Northern District of California.

Wang is a 1995 graduate of the Yale Law School, where she was an articles editor for The Yale Law Journal. She served as a law clerk to retired Justice Harry A. Blackmun of the Supreme Court of the United States, working in the chambers of Justice Stephen G. Breyer, and to Judge William A. Norris of the U.S. Court of Appeals of the Ninth Circuit. She graduated from U.C. Berkeley in 1992 with an A.B. in English (with highest honors) and Biology.

Valedictorian

Emersen Bribiesca is graduating with a degree in computer science.

Bribiesca's path to Brooklyn College began at the United States Military Academy, where he studied history and English and led the Academy's LGBTQ+ diversity organization for two years.

After leaving the Academy, Bribiesca moved to Brooklyn and threw himself into advocacy work. He volunteered across the city, working the front desk at the Brooklyn Community Pride Center, serving free community breakfast with the New York City chapter of Gay4Good, and digitizing unpublished collections at the Lesbian Herstory Archives in Park Slope.

Bribiesca initially returned to college at the Borough of Manhattan Community College (CUNY), where he earned an associate of science degree in computer science. While at BMCC, he worked full time at a feminist employment discrimination law firm in Downtown Brooklyn, assisting survivors of abuse and discrimination in seeking justice through the courts. He also began combining his technical skills with his passion for social change through Out in Tech's Digital Corps, building websites for LGBTQ+ nonprofit organizations around the world.

After transferring to Brooklyn College to complete his bachelor's degree, Bribiesca was named a Point Foundation Transfer Scholar. During his first semester, he made the move into the tech industry and began working as a legal operations analyst at Datadog. During his final semester, he joined a Brooklyn College research project that used artificial intelligence to analyze Wall Street filings and developed course materials for finance and computer science students across CUNY.

Bribiesca lives in Brooklyn with his wife and two cats. He enjoys running in Prospect Park and is training for his third marathon this fall. After graduation, he is excited to continue his career in tech and to keep supporting social justice efforts through digital work.

Salutatorian

Born to Japanese parents who emigrated to Hong Kong under British colonial rule, Hideka Minami grew up as a so-called third-culture kid, navigating and integrating multiple cultural identities from an early age.

She later moved to Japan to attend an international school for middle school, further shaping a perspective grounded in adaptability and an awareness of how environments and lived experiences intersect.

She first came to the United States to study special effects makeup, drawn to visual storytelling and transformation. She later continued her education in Los Angeles at the Fashion Institute of Design & Merchandising, where she earned an associate degree.

Although she began her academic journey early, she did not complete her bachelor's degree at that time. While navigating familial illness, financial challenges, immigration processes, and broader economic instability, Minami worked alongside her husband to build a family business.

Years later, as a mother, she returned to higher education with renewed intention. She is now graduating with a B.F.A. in art, with a concentration in painting.

Her work explores how delayed recognition can distort and reshape experience, approaching identity and memory as fluid rather than fixed. Her journey reflects a commitment to growth on her own terms, and a belief that education is not defined by timing, but by purpose.

Salutatorian

As a first-generation college student, Nariba Cintron's academic journey, during which she maintained a 4.00 GPA, reflects both excellence and resilience. Born in Trinidad and Tobago, Cintron migrated to the United States at a young age and faced uncertainty and hardship during her early years.

As a former “Dreamer,” her experiences have shaped her commitment to multicultural inclusivity. She has been an advocate for destigmatizing ethnic and minority dialects and languages, battling the assumption that they are inferior to their standardized counterparts.

Her path to higher education was not traditional. After leaving high school early, she later earned her GED, an experience that marked a turning point in her academic trajectory. Determined to continue her studies, she enrolled at LaGuardia Community College (CUNY), where she graduated with an associate degree in education.

At Brooklyn College, she pursued dual degrees in communication sciences and disorders and psychology, along with a double minor in neuroscience. She has been consistently recognized on the Dean's List and is a member of the National Student Speech Language Hearing Association, Psi Chi Honor Society, and the Philosophy Honor Society, Phi Sigma Tau. Her academic interests include cross-cultural learning, bilingualism, style shifting, code-switching, accent bias, pitch perception, language acquisition, and mental health awareness. She is also particularly interested in neurogenic speech disorders and the intersection of neuroscience and communication.

Her professional and research experiences reflect these interests. As a former participant in the National Science Foundation Research Experiences for Undergraduates program, she examined speech patterns and linguistic variation in Caribbean English and English-lexified creoles, including Trinidadian creole and Jamaican patois. She has more than a decade of experience supporting young children in early childhood settings, with a focus on language development and social communication.

Her personal experiences have shaped her passion for culturally responsive care and her goal of becoming a speech-language pathologist serving underrepresented communities. Inspired in part by her mother's diagnosis with multiple sclerosis, she plans to pursue graduate study and contribute to research and clinical practice in neurodegenerative conditions. She was recently accepted into NYU Steinhardt's M.S. Program in Communicative Sciences and Disorders, and looks forward to the next stage of her academic and professional development.

Outside of her academic work, Cintron enjoys reading across a wide range of genres, particularly dystopian, science fiction, and philosophical texts. She also enjoys traveling and spending time at the beach. She credits God for her accomplishments and remains deeply grateful for the people who have supported her along the way.

Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

is a nationally renowned legal scholar, educator, and public intellectual whose work has profoundly shaped contemporary conversations on constitutional law, democracy, and reproductive rights and justice. She is the Frederick I. and Grace Stokes Professor of Law at NYU School of Law and one of the country's most influential voices at the intersection of law, culture, and public life.

Professor Murray is the author of The U.S. Constitution: A Comprehensive and Annotated Guide for the Modern Reader (2026). She is the co-author, with Andrew Weissmann, of The New York Times no. 1 bestselling book The Trump Indictments: The Historic Charging Documents with Commentary (2024), which brought clarity and historical context to a decisive moment in American democracy. She is also co-author of Cases on Reproductive Rights and Justice, the first casebook devoted to the field, and co-editor of Reproductive Rights and Justice Stories. Her scholarship has appeared in the nation's leading law journals, including the Harvard Law Review, Yale Law Journal, and Columbia Law Review.

Beyond the academy, Professor Murray has played an essential role in making complex legal issues accessible to the public. She is a trusted legal analyst for MSNOW and serves as co-host of Strict Scrutiny, a widely acclaimed podcast examining the Supreme Court and American legal culture. Her commentary has appeared in The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Atlantic, Vanity Fair, and other major outlets.

A graduate of the University of Virginia and Yale Law School, Professor Murray clerked for Justice Sonia Sotomayor when she served on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. Prior to joining NYU, she was a member of the faculty at the University of California, Berkeley, School of Law, where she was recognized for teaching excellence and later served as interim dean. Her contributions to legal education and public discourse have been recognized with numerous national honors, including election to the American Law Institute.

Through her scholarship, teaching, and public engagement, Melissa Murray has advanced a deeper understanding of law's role in shaping a more just and inclusive society.

Honorary Doctor of Humane Letters

Patrick Gaspard is a distinguished senior fellow at the Center for American Progress and the Center for American Progress Action Fund, where he previously served as president and CEO.

President Barack Obama's administration, Gaspard held several senior roles over two terms, including U.S. ambassador to the Republic of South Africa. From 2011 to 2013, he served as executive director of the Democratic National Committee, helping lead the president's reelection campaign and overseeing the national party's operations. Earlier, from 2009 to 2011, he was assistant to the president and director of the White House Office of Political Affairs. He also served as associate director of personnel for the Obama transition and national political director for the historic 2008 campaign.

Most recently, Gaspard served as president of the Open Society Foundations (OSF), one of the world's largest private philanthropies. He joined OSF as global vice president, overseeing regional programs across five continents and shaping its global advocacy strategies, and became president in 2017. During his four-year tenure, he led the foundation through major global challenges, including the rise of authoritarianism and the COVID-19 pandemic. In 2020, he stewarded major emergency investments to support essential workers and vulnerable communities and helped shape significant commitments to civil rights organizations following the murder of George Floyd.

As U.S. ambassador to South Africa from 2013 to 2016, Gaspard led the U.S. mission and coordinated efforts across multiple federal agencies. His work included redesigning the U.S. President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief to better integrate it into South Africa's health care system and leading trade negotiations that resulted in an unprecedented 10-year renewal of the African Growth and Opportunity Act compact.

Born in Kinshasa, Democratic Republic of the Congo, to Haitian parents, Gaspard grew up in New York City and began his career as a union organizer. He rose to senior leadership within Service Employees International Union Local 1199 and later served as the union's national political director. He is the recipient of the NAACP's Spingarn Medal and has received honorary degrees from Columbia University and Bard College.

Disclaimer

The names listed in this commencement program represent candidates for graduation for September 2025, December 2025, February 2026, June 2026, and September 2026. To have their names appear in this program, students must have filed notice with the Office of the Registrar by the communicated deadlines that they expected to complete all their academic requirements by either June 2026 or September 2026, which would enable them to participate in the May 2026 Commencement.

The names of students who filed after February 15, 2026 (for June 2026 candidates), or March 15, 2026 (for September 2026 candidates), may not appear in this program. Students who believe they filed before their respective deadline dates, but do not see their names listed in the program, should contact the Office of the Registrar.

Every attempt has been made to publish an accurate record of the names of the graduates and of those receiving special recognition. It should be noted, however, that because of production deadlines, the program may contain some errors and/or omissions, despite all efforts to the contrary. The preferred student names in this program appear as they do in CUNYfirst.

The listing of candidate names in this program is not a verification of graduation. To confirm graduation, please contact the Office of the Registrar.

Due to the timing of publication, cum laude, magna cum laude, and summa cum laude honors are not listed for June 2026 or September 2026 baccalaureate candidates. Dean's List honors do not appear in this publication. Baccalaureate double majors are listed under their primary major only; minors are not listed.

This commencement program reflects students' preferred names as they appeared in CUNYfirst as of March 15, 2026. If you did not have a preferred name in the system at that time, your primary (legal) name will be reflected in this program.

Students' diplomas will display either their legal name or the diploma name they have designated in CUNYfirst, which may differ from their preferred name. To ensure their name appears as intended, spring graduates must update their diploma name in CUNYfirst by June 1, 2026, and summer graduates must do so by September 1, 2026.
